

Reviewers for The Journal of the American Board of Family Practice in 2004

Peer reviewers are critical to the success and quality of the JABFP. Here we acknowledge and thank the many individuals who, during 2004, volunteered their time and expertise to read and critique submissions for the journal. Peer reviewing is a labor of love. Top researchers in primary care and other specialties provide thoughtful recommendations and insights to their colleagues. This devotion to advancing primary care research and practice, plus the commitment to nurturing their colleagues is a tremendous service to us all. If you submitted a peer review to JABFP in 2004 and your name is not listed, please let us know. Readers are invited to enlist as peer reviewers for the JABFP. We want to expand our pool of reviewer expertise, and the scholarly perspectives in the critiques and suggestions that we provide to authors. You can become a JABFP peer reviewer by downloading the registration form from <http://www.jabfp.org>. Click the "Peer Reviewers" button on the left column of the home page to access the form.
