NEOSPORIN®
PROTECTING BETTER...

HELPS PREVENT GRAM-POSITIVE AND GRAM-NEGATIVE SKIN INFECTIONS IN MINOR WOUNDS

■ Triple-antibiotic ointment for protection beyond bacitracin alone:
  — Neomycin Sulfate
  — Polymyxin B Sulfate
  — Bacitracin Zinc

■ Unlike bacitracin, Neosporin kills both gram-positive and gram-negative skin pathogens

The College of Community Health Sciences and the University of Alabama School of Medicine are proud to announce the creation of the Gerald Leon Wallace, M.D., Endowed Chair in Family Medicine, named in honor and memory of one of Alabama’s most distinguished and innovative family physicians. In anticipation of filling this position, we are seeking nominations and applications of individuals who are recognized as outstanding Family Medicine scholars and clinicians and who will qualify at the rank of associate professor or full professor. Qualified applicants will be board certified in family medicine, possess outstanding clinical skills, and have a demonstrated record in research. In addition, we are seeking a person with leadership skills, grantsmanship, and a solid interest in collegial research development consistent with the College's mission. Further qualifications include a commitment to primary care, particularly addressing the needs of rural and underserved areas, and a dedication to the training of family physicians. The College of Community Health Sciences is a branch campus of the University of Alabama School of Medicine with the mission of providing excellence in the education of 25 third- and 25 fourth-year medical students and in the training of 36 Family Practice residents in family medicine. A major goal of the program is to enhance the accessibility of medical care of rural and underserved populations through the training of competent practitioners. The Department of Family Medicine includes 7 family physicians and 2 non-M.D. faculty. The Tuscaloosa Family Practice Residency has been recognized for more than 20 years as one of the most productive Family Practice Residency programs in the Southeast. The program is affiliated with DCH Regional Medical Center, the third largest hospital in the state, and the Tuscaloosa Veterans Administration Hospital. Capstone Medical Center is the ambulatory care facility for the residency program and manages over 46,000 patient visits annually. The College also offers a competitive Obstetrics Fellowship for family physicians interested in obstetrics as part of their practice.

Tuscaloosa is a community of approximately 100,000 people with many exceptional educational, cultural, and recreational opportunities. The main campus of The University of Alabama, a comprehensive research institution, offers a wide variety of opportunities for faculty and their families.

Send letter of interest and a current curriculum vitae to Jerry McKnight, M.D.; Chairman, Department of Family Medicine; Box 870374; Tuscaloosa, Alabama 35487-0374 or Fax: (205) 348-2889. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. The University of Alabama is committed to EEO/AA.
