The Journal of the American Board of Family Practice

VOLUME 11, NUMBER 1 JANUARY—FEBRUARY 1998

CONTENTS

ORIGINAL ARTICLES

Efforts to Improve the Follow-up of Patients With Abnormal Papanicolaou Test Results

Bruce Block and Ruth Ann Branham 1

Measurement and Management of Hyperlipidemia for the Primary Prevention of Coronary Heart Disease

Jack Froom, Paul Froom, Mignon Benjamin, and Brian J. Benjamin 12

New-Patient Self-History Questionnaires in Primary Care

Richard A. Guthmann 23

Tools for Community-Oriented Primary Care: A Process for Linking Practice and Community Data

Thomas M. Mettee, Kevin B. Martin, and Robert L. Williams 28

CLINICAL REVIEW

Frostbite: Review and Current Concepts

Brian V. Reamy 34

MEDICAL PRACTICE

Bronchiolitis Obliterans Organizing Pneumonia Mimicking Community-Acquired Pneumonia

Em Ward and John Rog 41

EVIDENCE-BASED CLINICAL PRACTICE

Evidence-Based Medicine in Primary Care: An Overview

John P. Geyman 46

STEPPED CARE: AN EVIDENCE-BASED APPROACH TO DRUG THERAPY

Reducing Cardiovascular Morbidity and Mortality With the Statins

Rex W. Force 57
CONTENTS

Continued

BRIEF REPORTS

Erythema Multiforme: Case Report and Discussion 63
Lisa M. Kroonen

Acute-Onset Persistent Olfactory Deficit Resulting From Multiple Overexposures to Ammonia Vapor at Work 66
Janice C. Prudhomme, Dennis J. Shusterman, and Paul D. Blanc

REFLECTIONS IN FAMILY PRACTICE

The 1-Hour Advising Session: Helping Students Choose Family Practice 70
Joseph E. Scherger

EDITORIALS

Benefits of Cholesterol Screening and Therapy for Primary Prevention of Cardiovascular Disease: A New Paradigm 72
James H. Stein and Patrick E. McBride

Process Instead of Prayer: Moving Toward Active Management of Patient Care 77
Paul S. Frame

CORRESPONDENCE

80

BOOK REVIEWS

83

REVIEWER ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

86

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING