VERELAN

AS EFFECTIVE AS PROCARDIA XL IN REDUCING BP AT THE 24TH HOUR

Reduction in mean DBP measured 24 ± 2 hours after dosing

Results on a 12-week, randomized, double-blind, parallel-comparison study of patients with mild to moderate hypertension in a single-blind, placebo-controlled trial. Patients not controlled on VERELAN 24 mg/day were titrated to 36 mg/day, and those not controlled on PROCARDIA XL 160 mg/day were titrated to 100 mg/day, and increased in 50 mg/day.

No significant difference between groups in the number of titrations to goal DBP (≤ 90 mm Hg)

PROCARDIA XL is a registered trademark of Pfizer Inc.

Constipation, which can easily be managed in most patients, is the most frequently reported side effect of verapamil.

Please see brief summary of prescribing information including CONTRAINDICATIONS, WARNINGS, and PRECAUTIONS on last page.

INFORMATION FOR AUTHORS

The Journal of the American Board of Family Practice welcomes for editorial review manuscripts that contribute to family practice as a clinical scientific discipline. High priority is given to reports of clinically relevant studies that have practical implications for improved patient care. Manuscripts are considered in relation to the extent to which they represent original work, their significance to the advancement of family medicine, and their interest to the practicing family physician. Some papers that are accepted by the Journal will be selected for an accompanying guest editorial or concurrent commentary by other invited authors addressing issues raised by the papers. The Journal publishes the following features:

Original Articles. Reports of original research, usually dealing with a clinical, health services, or other clinically relevant study.

Medical Practice. Scholarly articles that relate directly to clinical topics useful in everyday family practice, whether dealing with diagnostic or therapeutic roles of the family physician or reporting studies of what family physicians do in practice.

Clinical Review. In-depth reviews of specific clinical problems, disease entities, or treatment modalities; comprehensive and critical analysis of the literature is required (usual maximum length 5000 words).

Clinical Guidelines and Primary Care. Summaries of major clinical guidelines proposed by various specialized governmental, or health care organizations, with critical commentary from a primary care perspective.

Family Practice and the Health Care System. Articles reporting studies and scholarly commentary on changing trends and patterns of care in family practice, primary care, and the health care system.

Special Articles. Articles in other areas that may relate to the role of the family physician, education for family practice, or other subjects important to family practice as a clinical specialty.

Brief Reports. Short reports of pilot studies or case reports with a teaching point of clinical relevance (usual length 1000–1500 words).

Family Practice - World Perspective. Papers reporting developments related to the practice or education of family physicians in various countries around the world (usual length 1200–1800 words).

Reflections in Family Practice. Papers in narrative or essay format that illuminate qualitative aspects of family practice, including such areas as ethical issues, the physician-patient relationship, or the diverse roles of the family physician.

Editorial. Focused opinion or commentary that bears on an issue relevant to the field. May or may not accompany an original article in the same issue (usual length 1000–1500 words).

Letters to the Editor. Observations, opinion, or comment on topics under discussion in the Journal, usually not to exceed 500 words.

Book Reviews. Books for review and book reviews should be sent to Dr. John P. Geyman, Editor, the Journal of the American Board of Family Practice, Department of Family Medicine (H-30), School of Medicine, University of Washington, Seattle, WA 98195. The following guidelines are in accordance with the "Uniform Requirements for Manuscripts Submitted to Biomedical Journals." The current (fourth) edition was published in the February 7, 1991, issue of the New England Journal of Medicine.

MANUSCRIPT SUBMISSION

Manuscripts containing original material are accepted for consideration with the understanding that neither the article nor any part of its essential substance, tables, or figures has been or will be published or submitted for publication elsewhere before appearing in the Journal. This restriction does not apply to abstracts or press reports published in connection with scientific meetings. Copies of any possibly duplicative manuscripts should be submitted to the Editor along with the manuscript that is to be considered by the Journal. The Journal strongly discourages the submission of more than one article dealing with related aspects of the same study. In almost all cases, a single study is best reported in a single paper.

Submit an original and 3 copies of the complete manuscript, including text pages, legends, tables, references, and glossy prints of figures. Only typed copy, on standard-sized typewriter paper and double-spaced throughout, with margins of at least 2.5 cm, is acceptable. Address all submissions to John P. Geyman, M.D., Editor, the Journal of the American Board of Family Practice, Department of Family Medicine, School of Medicine, University of Washington, Seattle, WA 98195. A covering letter should identify the person (with the address and telephone number) responsible for negotiations concerning the manuscript; the letter should make it clear that the final manuscript has been seen and approved by all authors. If authors acknowledge by name persons who provided important technical, advisory, or reviewer contributions, the corresponding author should sign the following statement: "I have obtained written permission from all persons named in the acknowledgment."

The Journal expects authors to take public responsibility for their manuscripts, including conception and design of the work, data analysis, writing, and review of the paper. Authors are expected to stand behind the validity of their data and, if asked by the Editor, to submit the actual data for editorial review with the manuscript.

The Journal also expects authors to disclose any commercial associations that might pose a conflict of interest in connection with the submitted article. Consultancies, stock ownership or other equity interests, patent-licensing arrangements, and other kinds of associations that might involve conflict of interest should be disclosed to the Editor in a covering letter at the time of submission. Such information will be held in confidence while the paper is under review and will not influence the editorial decision. If the manuscript is accepted, the Editor will discuss with the authors how best to disclose the relevant information. Questions about this policy should be directed to the Editor.

MANUSCRIPTS

Titles and Authors' Names

With the manuscript, provide a page giving the title of the paper; a running foot of fewer than 40 letter spaces; the name(s) of the author(s), including first name(s) and academic degree(s); the name of the department and institution in which the work was done; and the name and address of the author to whom reprint requests should be addressed. All funding sources supporting the work should be routinely acknowledged on the title page, as

CAUTION: Federal law prohibits dispensing without prescription.

Description: Each ESGIC-PLUS tablet contains (in mg):

- Butalbital: 50
- Acetaminophen: 325
- Caffeine: 45

CLINICAL PHARMACOLOGY: Pharmacologically, ESGIC-PLUS combines the analgesic properties of acetaminophen with the analgesic and cognitive effects of caffeine to provide pain relief.

CONTRAINDICATIONS: Use with caution in patients with a history of or current dependence on barbiturates. ESGIC-PLUS should be used only with caution in patients with a history of liver disease, or those with a history of drug abuse or alcoholism.

Drug Interactions: In patients with hepatic impairment, the half-life of butalbital is increased, which may increase the risk of hepatotoxicity. In patients with renal impairment, the clearance of butalbital is decreased, which may increase the risk of nephrotoxicity.

Treatment: Supportive care includes gastric lavage, activated charcoal, and hospitalization for observation. In the absence of specific antidotes, general supportive care is the treatment of choice.

Prognosis: The prognosis for patients with an overdose of ESGIC-PLUS is generally good, with a high likelihood of recovery. However, in patients with underlying liver disease, the prognosis may be worse.
